

I know many religions and those who don't have religious beliefs, believe that each person is valuable and unique.

In the bible story, 'Let the children come', Jesus says: Let the little children come to me. Don't stop them, because God's kingdom belongs to people who are like these little children.

Mark 10 v13-15

I know: There is one rule many say is the most important rule...

The Golden Rule

'Treat other people as you would like them to treat you.'

I know Mother Teresa was very religious and cared for many people. She also travelled around the world teaching others how to help those in need.

I know the parable 'The Good Samaritan'.

One day, a Jewish man went out for a stroll. Along the way, two bandits jumped out onto the road and stole all the man's belongings. A priest and a levite saw the man lying on the ground but they both ignored him and walked by. Later, along came a Samaritan (Samaritans and Jews didn't usually get along at all) and he kindly helped the man in need.
